DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on June 5, 2007, is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Status

Claims 1-11 are active in the case. Claims 2-3 and 6-10 have been amended by preliminary amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Proelss (US 4,347,313). Proelss teaches a method for detecting lipolytic enzyme or amidase activity in a sample comprising incubating a sample with a polyunsaturated fatty acyl substrate with an amide or ester bond with subsequent incubation with lipoxygenase and then detecting the formation of the hydroperoxide (col. 2). He teaches a variety of polyunsaturated fatty acids (cols. 3 and 4, clms. 1 and 2) as well as colorimetric detection of the amount of peroxide produced in the second, lipoxygenase, step (col. 8, clms. 9-11)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Proelss in view of Gay ((1999) Anal. Biochem. 273: 149-155). Proelss teaches a method of detecting lipolytic enzyme or amidase enzyme activity in a test sample, as described above, including a colorimetric assay, but does not teach the use of xylenol orange, specifically, in the color generation step. Gay et al. teach the use of xylenol orange (XO) in ferrous ion reactions with hyperperoxides for detection.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the references of Proelss with Gay et al. in order to obtain the instant invention as claimed. One would have been motivated to use any colorimetric assay components in the assay, as taught by Proelss (claims 9-11), but specifically XO since it is usable with chemically complex systems (p. 154).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Lisa J. Hobbs whose telephone number is 571-272-3373. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Thursday, 6:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
